

Quiz on Plants

Fill in the blanks.

1. A plant organ that uses the sun to make its own food is called a _____.
2. A plant organ that holds up leaves and keeps fruits and flowers is called a _____.
3. A plant organ that holds the plant firmly in the ground is called a _____.
4. The roots absorb _____ and minerals from the soil.
5. The main stem of a tree is called a _____.
6. The part of a trunk that protects the tree from bad weather is called _____.
7. The group of pigments that makes plants green is called _____.
8. The group of pigments that makes plants yellow and orange is called a _____.
9. A tree that does not lose its leaves or needles in winter is called an _____.
10. The needles are covered with a _____ coating.
11. You can estimate the age of the tree by counting the _____.
12. The process in which plants use sunlight to create food is called _____.

chlorophyll root trunk leaf wax stem carotenoids evergreen photosynthesis bark water annual rings

ANSWER KEY Baby Animals: Quiz

Quiz on Plants

Fill in the blanks.

1. A plant organ that uses the sun to make its own food is called a leaf.
2. A plant organ that holds up leaves and keeps fruits and flowers is called a stem.
3. A plant organ that holds the plant firmly in the ground is called a root.
4. The roots absorb water and minerals from the soil.
5. The main stem of a tree is called the trunk.
6. The part of a trunk that protects the tree from bad weather is called bark.
7. A group of pigments that makes plants green is called chlorophyll.
8. A group of pigments that makes plants yellow and orange are called carotenoids.
9. A tree that does not lose its leaves or needles in winter is called an evergreen.
10. The needles are covered with a wax coating.
11. You can estimate the age of a tree by counting the annual rings.
12. The process in which plants use sunlight to create food is called a photosynthesis.